(By The Associated Press)

Diplomats took the offensive in a European war devoid today of military developments. The British air ministry reported that scouting planes had made night flights over Berlin, but did not say whether they had been shot down.

On the eastern front a German communiqué reported the first German troops had moved into Poland without incident.

Defenders of the Hela Peninsula, "the last point of Polish resistance," were said to have surrendered unconditionally.

Soviet Russian forces pushed communication of eastern Poland which the red army occupied in dividing Poland with Germany. On the western front, a French communiqué said "the night was relatively calm."

Germany reported "merely local artillery and reconnoitering activity" in the west, but said one British scouting plane had been shot down.

French dispatches indicated the British-French forces were consolidating their positions and had removed thousands of small mines left behind by the Germans.

Vessel Is Sunk

On the sea, Britain lost her first merchant vessel in more than a week. The information ministry announced the 5,551-ton Clement had been sunk by a "raider" in the south Atlantic.

Diplomatic activity centered in Moscow and Berlin.

Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy ended a visit with Adolf Hitler which was interpreted by Berlin sources as part of a "peace offensive" by the fuhrer to end the war with Britain and France now that Poland has been conquered.

Some observers expected that Ciano's father-in-law, Premier Mussolini, would assume the role of mediator in such peace efforts.

Britain and France, however, gave indication such a peace would be unacceptable since both have pledged to restore Poland and destroy "Hitlerism."

"We are going on to the end," Britain's first lord of the admiralty, Winston Churchill, said in a vigorous Sunday night speech.

Royal Proclamation

Churchill's words were backed up by a royal proclamation calling up an additional 250,000 men to the colors. In summing up the first month of conflict, Churchill said "Russia has warned Hitler off his eastern dreams" of expansion into southeastern Europe.

Soviet Russia continued active extension of her influence over surrounding European nations. Latvia's foreign minister was summoned to Moscow. Informants said his trip was for negotiations.

Strike Is Ended

Sugar Workers Sign Pact to Culminate 6-Week Strike for Contract

Edgewater, N. J., Oct. 2 (AP)—A six-week strike of 2,500 employees of the National Sugar Refining Company ended today when they returned to work in plants here and at Long Island City, N. Y.

The company signed a two-year contract with the United Sugar Refinery Workers (CIO) Saturday, granting an increase of one cent an hour for the Edgewater workers.

E. L. Howard, union director, said a union shop was not granted, but that cooperation between the company and union as to union membership had been agreed upon. Charles D. Bruyn, president of the company, said the contract provided for a slight wage increase for women employees in both plants.

The Edgewater plant employs about 1,000 persons and the Long Island City plant about 2,500.

U. S. May Abandon Territory

'Little America' May Go to British, Officials Disclose, in Favor of Region Further East; Expedition Leaves This Week

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—The United States may abandon "Little America" in the Antarctic to British claims and take title instead to territory lying further east.

Officials of the forthcoming government expedition to the South Pole disclosed this possibility today.

The party will embark from the Boston navy yard early in November and reach south polar waters early next January.

Although the flagship North Star, under command of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, will proceed directly to the explorer's old base at Little America, a permanent camp may be established east of this British-claimed territory, the officials said.

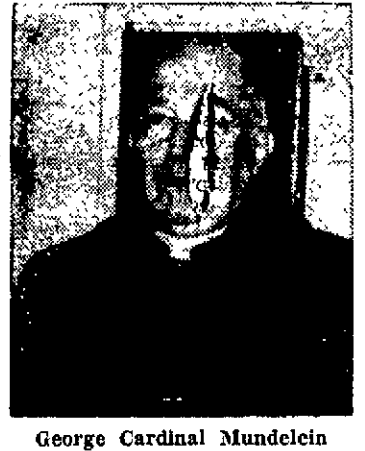

That would put the American flag over an area never before claimed by any nation, they explained, and would avoid possible conflict with rival British operations.

The expedition has mapped out a three to four year program of meteorological and other studies.

A definitely defined American possession at the South Pole, experts say, would make possible accurate weather information for aviation and naval operations in the south Pacific. This would be of value to the United States in the event of a war and would make possible weather forecasts for the new air mail service between the United States, Australia and New Zealand.

Cardinal Mundelein Is Found Dead in Bed

Dies Suddenly

George Cardinal Mundelein

Archbishop of Chicago, 67 in 'Perfect Health' at the Time He Celebrates Mass Yesterday

Chicago, Oct. 2 (AP)—George Cardinal Mundelein, 67, Archbishop of Chicago, died suddenly today.

He was found dead in his bed at his residence in Mundelein, Ill., by Msgr. Patrick Hayes. Father Hayes had gone to the cardinal's room to call him when the prelate did not appear for his customary morning devotions.

The cardinal, who won wide notice for building the Chicago diocese into one of the largest and wealthiest in the world, was regarded as in "perfect health" as late as yesterday.

Celebrates Mass
The diocesan office said he had worked at his duties Saturday and said Mass yesterday, as was his custom, at the seminary in Mundelein.

One of the best known of the Catholic clergy in the United States, Cardinal Mundelein was mentioned as a Papal candidate on the death of Pope Pius XI this year.

The cardinal attracted world wide attention in 1937 when he referred to Adolf Hitler in a public address as "an Austrian paper hanger and a poor one at that."

He was a close friend of President Roosevelt, whom he visited in the White House on several occasions. The President, on a tour of the nation in 1936, was a guest of the cardinal at a luncheon in the prelate's Chicago residence.

Banquet Recalled
In 1918, at banquet honoring the cardinal, hundreds of civic leaders and Catholic laity were stricken ill in a poison plot which shocked the nation. Several died. Poison was found in the soup, and investigators traced the plot to an anarchist chef, Jean Cronos. Cronos was never apprehended.

Under Cardinal Mundelein's tenure, the first Eucharistic Congress of the Catholic Church ever brought to the United States was held in Chicago in 1926. More than a million of the faithful from every nation of the world participated in the services.

Outstanding members of the hierarchy came in 1934 to attend ceremonies conducted in celebration of Cardinal Mundelein's 25th episcopal anniversary.

The cardinal was recognized universally as a great builder. During his administration scores of new churches, schools, orphanages and hospitals were constructed in the archdiocese.

Probably the most impressive of all monuments he left behind is the huge St. Mary's of the Lake Theological Seminary in suburban Mundelein. It was built at an estimated cost of $13,000,000, yet the cardinal once remarked, "I would rather save the life of a child than build the greatest cathedral in the world."

Leaders Entertained

High church leaders from all parts of the world were entertained here during Cardinal Mundelein's regime, among them Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, now Pope Pius XII. Pacelli was papal secretary of state.

More Than 5,000 March in Parade

Threatening Weather Fails to Halt the Archdiocesan Program; Rites Held at New Stadium

Undaunted by drab skies and occasional drizzles, more than 5,000 men representing in excess of two score branches of the Holy Name Society in the Archdiocese of New York, paraded here yesterday in the greatest demonstration of Catholic faith and loyalty ever seen in this part of the archdiocese.

Threatening weather no doubt had a tendency to cut into the numerical strength of the parade, but even with the skies apparently ready to let loose a storm at any minute the men turned out in a number sufficient to meet the expectations of the Rev. Edmund Burke, regional spiritual director, and William R. Johnson of Saugerties, county president of the Holy Name Society and chairman of the executive committee that arranged the details of the parade and rally.

The parade itself was something for which the Holy Name Society might well be proud. Rank after rank of Catholics, men, old and young, swung through Kingston's streets to the tune of colorful bands. At least 16 bands some performing intricate maneuvers—and some with petite majorettes or baton swingers not yet in their teens—brought to the demonstration all the color possible.

New Band Appears

The newly organized Holy Name band, organized by Robert Steuding expressly for this parade, led the parade and the spirit they put into the music more than offset their lack of uniforms.

Preceded by police motorcycles and a police escort under command of Lieut. James V. Simpson, the parade, which formed in the streets adjacent to St. Peter's Church, got under way shortly after 2:30 o'clock. A large crowd lined the route of the parade and applauded as the men passed through McEntee street, up Broadway to Albany avenue, to Clinton street and down North Front street to the new municipal stadium.

Fire Chief Joseph Murphy, parade marshal, and his aide, Ernest Steuding did a fine job in getting the large number of men under way with so little delay.

Riding in one of the first official cars was Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, accompanied by the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, P. R. V. F., dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, and Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin. The Rev. Charles Reilly, C. Ss. R., one of the principal speakers, rode further back in the line, while the Hon. John T. Loughran, who spoke on behalf of the laity, walked with St. Joseph's Holy Name Society.

Clergy In Parade

Walking in the parade were more than two score members of the clergy, among them being Monsignor Stephen F. Connelly of St. Peter's Church, Poughkeepsie, and the aged Monsignor Henry O'Carroll of St. Patrick's, Newburgh. Among prominent members of the laity were Mayor George V. L. Spratt and Fire Chief Chris W. Noll of Poughkeepsie.

Under the dull skies, the band and cadets from the Good Shepherd school, Inwood, were brilliant in their brightly-hued uniforms. The Boy Scouts' Fife & Drum Corps from Manhattan, leading a New York city delegation, was the only other New York organization to brave the weather, there being

Alfred E. Smith Asks That United States 'Stand Solidly' in Back of President

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith, long one of the foremost critics of the New Deal, called on the nation last night to "stand solidly" behind President Roosevelt's fight to amend the neutrality act.

Praising the President's program for lifting the arms embargo to permit cash-and-carry sales of munitions and war supplies and to bar American shipping from the war zones, Smith told a radio audience:

"He is so clearly right, so obviously on the side of common sense and sound judgment and of patriotism, that only those whose lack of understanding of the issue will oppose him."

The speech was the first in which Smith, the 1928 Democratic presidential nominee, had publicly supported a major administration measure advanced by the man who succeeded him as the standard bearer of his party.

As he spoke, Columbia Broadcasting system officers were picketed by 20 supporters of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, carrying placards reading: "Al, why have you changed your color?" and "Al, are you going with the other crowd now?"

Smith said the only way to keep America out of the present European war was to bar American ships and passengers from belligerent waters.

"The present neutrality act does not work. It has not met the test, and in the coming state of world affairs, it can't possibly meet the even more drastic strains of the future. It has been weighed in the balance and found wanting."

Lightning Strikes Plane in River

One of the planes owned by the Kingston Flying Service and stationed in the Hudson river, was badly damaged by fire Saturday evening, after it had been struck by a bolt of lightning. "Probably the only parts that can be salvaged," said Manager Dick Kaufman, shown above with the ill-fated airplane, "are the motor and pontoons." The plane was one of the new ships delivered to the flying service a month ago and was serviced with pontoons and docked in the river about two weeks ago. The fire was discovered by a resident of Kingston Point at about 7 o'clock and an alarm was turned in from box 2222.

AFL Will Support Roosevelt's Plan, Green Announces

Keynote Speech Promises Backing Provided No Danger of Involving U. S. in War Crisis

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 2 (AP)—President William Green declared today the American Federation of Labor was willing to support President Roosevelt's plan for repeal of the arms embargo if such action would not involve the United States in war.

In his keynote address to the federation's 59th convention, the veteran AFL leader reminded delegates of President Roosevelt's message to the special session of congress recommending repeal of the arms embargo to safeguard the peace of this nation.

Willing to Accept Word

"We are willing to accept his word and give him support in his legislative program," Green said, "with the understanding that it is for the purpose of keeping us out of the European war."

The council's report avoided any statement on President Roosevelt's program for revising the neutrality act and employing a system of "cash and carry" for sale abroad of American munitions and planes. Some union leaders, however, voiced the hope the convention would support the complete program of the administration.

The council included in its report a recommendation that the brewery workers union be suspended from membership because "it challenged the authority of the American Federation of Labor itself by seeking an injunction to restrain it from exercising its legal and moral rights to settle jurisdiction controversies."

Also Faces Suspension

Also facing suspension is the International Typographical Union for non-payment of a special assessment levied in 1937 to finance a so-called "war chest" in the early struggle against the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Two of the six ITU delegates, President Claude M. Baker of Indianapolis and Michael M. Di Pietro of Tarrytown, N. Y., declined comment on probable rejection of their claim to convention seats. Baker said only that they would

Supreme Court Meets And Then Adjourns

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—After admitting a number of attorneys to practice and receiving a few motions, the Supreme Court justices adjourned today until next Monday.

At that time the court will announce whether it will review approximately 300 cases filed during the summer.

The justices went to the White House to pay their respects to the president after opening their new 1939-40 term.

Awaiting action by the court were anti-trust proceedings against the American Medical Association, 12 midwest oil companies and a group of milk dealers in the Chicago area.

WPA Jobs Start This Week in City

Work Will Be Done Upon Several Sewer Projects

With the lifting of the ban imposed by the state health department work on several sewer projects in various sections of the city by the local WPA is expected to be started shortly.

The new sewers will be constructed in First, Second, Third and Fourth avenues, Hooker street, Kingston street, Larch street, Ulster street, Ora Place, O'Neill street, Cummings avenue, Mountainview avenue, Greenkill avenue and Marius street.

When these sewers were submitted as proposed WPA projects by the city some time ago the state health department refused to grant permission for their construction on the ground that the city had failed to proceed with the construction of a sewage disposal plant.

Recently a representative of the state health department met with Mayor Heiselman and other city officials and following the conference the state department granted permission for the construction of the proposed sewers.

New Device Is Believed Used by German U-Boats

Oslo, Oct. 2 (AP)—The master of the sunken Norwegian freighter Solaas said today he believed the ship was the victim of a new torpedo technique.

He said no explosion was heard in what he described as a new-style torpedoing of the Solaas last Thursday.

"The Solaas was stopped in high seas, preventing the Germans from coming aboard," he said. "Five engines heard a hissing sound, then felt a bump."

"The submarine disappeared and five minutes later the Solaas began sinking from holes in the engine room and bunk room, indicating that a new device penetrated the ship's hull without an explosion."

700 Miles to Go

Green River, Utah, Oct. 2 (AP)—With 500 miles of perilous, solitary travel behind and 700 miles yet to cover, Charles F. Mann, York, Pa., taxidermist, is prepared to continue by kayak his descent of the swift-flowing Green and Colorado rivers.

Mann arrived last night nine days after leaving Jensen, Utah, 150 miles north, in his flimsy 14-foot canvas canoe. During those nine days, completely out of touch with the world, his boat capsized 18 times.

The most difficult stretches, however, lie ahead. He will resume his tortuous journey Wednesday. He appeared confident he would reach his destination—Lake Mead, where giant Boulder Dam checks the flow of the Colorado.

He began his solo trip at Green River, Wyo., September 12.

Senator Offers New Bill to Bring on Repeal of Measure

Calls Current War in Europe Gravest of All Threats in History of World

Believes in Chief

Pittman Says He Has Full Faith in Declaration of Roosevelt

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—Senator Pittman (D-Nev.) began a momentous Senate debate over the nation's neutrality policies today by asserting the existing arms embargo was "a discrimination in favor of Germany."

Speaking as chairman of the foreign relations committee, Pittman offered the administration's neutrality bill to repeal the arms embargo as "the most important legislation that has ever been proposed to Congress" and said it was designed "for the purpose of keeping us out of a European war."

Long before the Nevada Senator opened debate for proponents of new neutrality legislation, crowds had ignored a cold rain to throng the capitol and overflow the Senate's galleries. They were drawn by prospects of a debate expected to rank high among historic Senate discussions.

After Pittman concluded, Senator Borah (R-Ida.), dean of the Senate and leader of forces opposed to repeal of the embargo on the sale of arms to warring nations, was scheduled to make the first address for his side of the tense neutrality controversy.

(The administration bill would wipe out the present embargo against the sale of armaments to warring countries, would require belligerents to take title to goods purchased in this country before shipment and would require that American goods be carried to belligerents in non-American vessels. In addition, the President would be authorized to designate combat areas which American vessels and citizens could not enter.)

Gravest Threat

Pittman told his colleagues that "no such grave situation has threatened the world in all history" as the current conflict abroad. He said these developments abroad had aroused a feeling "of fear and distrust in the minds of all people," but added: "There would seem to be, fortunately, no sufficient grounds for fear of being drawn into this war as we were forced into the World War, so long as we conform to the admitted precepts of international law and prevent our citizens from subjecting themselves to destruction in the mad war raging in Europe."

The Nevada senator said opponents of the legislation had contended repeal of the arms embargo would favor France and Great Britain, because they presumably would control sea commerce with the United States.

"We might put it the other way," Pittman argued, "and say that the maintenance of the embargo is a discrimination in favor of Germany, because it prevents Great Britain, which is surrounded by water, from purchasing in our market arms, ammunition and implements of war that may be manufactured in Russia, Italy, Rumania, Yugoslavia and other countries."

Pittman said under the existing law Germany could get American goods through such

Harry P. Van Wagenen Is Named
State Commander of Women's Field Army

Announcement was made today by Mrs. Marjorie B. Illig, national commander of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, of the appointment of Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen of 17 John street, city.

The appointment was ratified yesterday by the state cancer executive committee at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Van Wagenen. Mrs. Van Wagenen has been many years of experience in the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs as well as local and civic organizations. The committee feels that in making this appointment its confidence in Mrs. Van Wagenen is not unduly placed.

Mrs. Van Wagenen will begin her work Tuesday, when she will be on a partial tour of the state accompanied by her deputy, Mrs. Alma Porter, of Rochester. Her tour, Mrs. Van Wagenen expects to find out where the organization needs greatest concentration. Later she will direct her activities from her home in Kingston. Her duties will also consist of speaking at meetings and being on hand for emergencies, should such arise.

The new state commander has been one of the vice chairmen of the Women's Field Army, having charge of the third judicial district for the past 18 months. In addition to her local activities she has served the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs in various capacities almost continuously for 16 years.

She has been district chairman and director of the State Federation, state chairman of the street and highway safety and state chairman of the scholarship committee. At present she is aide to the president of the State Federation and also acts to serve as director of the women's activities for the radio station project under consideration for Kingston.

Miss Hession And
Raymond Reilly Wed

Miss Monica Frances Hession, Eddyville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hession, was married Sunday afternoon to Raymond Edward Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reilly, of Bloomington. The ceremony was performed at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Eddyville, by the Rev. Thomas Hession of Newark, N. J., a cousin of the bride, and the Rev. William T. F. Rooley, pastor of the Church of the Holy Name, Wilbur. Miss Adeline McNamee was at the organ. A reception took place at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, John V. O'Connor of Eddyville. Miss Winifred House of Esopus, a cousin of the bride, and Arthur Reilly of Kingston were the only attendants. Joseph O'Connor of Bloomington and Charles Reilly, brother of the groom, were the ushers.

The bride wore a street length dress of royal blue velvet, a matching turban, and a corsage of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss House wore teal blue crepe with matching turban.

Young Mothers! Do What
Your Mother Did About
COUGHING COLDS

3 Out of 5 Mothers Use This Home-Proof Treatment You are right to worry when a cold strikes your family. You should take steps, at once, to relieve the misery and suffering. But you want to be sure that what you do is really helpful. You don't want to take needless risks. Now here is the most mothers do. They use Vicks VapoRub. Since 1890 Vicks and their doctors have studied ways to treat the distressing symptoms of colds. Today three out of five mothers are benefiting by this forty-four-year study of colds when they use VapoRub and let its amazing pool-to-vapor action go to work. PROFIT BY THEIR EXPERIENCE. Do this. If it's a coughing cold, make a spoonful of VapoRub in a pan of boiling water, and breathe in the soothing, medicated vapors. Then Massage Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back and go to bed. VICKS VAPORUB

Good Taste Today

Fan Letters

Dear Mrs. Post: All the girls in my class at school write to the movie stars, and when my mother found out that I do too, she didn't like it a bit. Is there anything wrong in writing to your favorite movie star?

Answer: That depends! A short note of intelligent appreciation of a part well played is a delight to every actor and actress. Unhappily, however, the usual letters sent by girls to men movie stars are very silly, and therefore, as a general thing, I can no more approve of this habit than your mother can! Perhaps it might dampen your enthusiasm to know that practically all fan letters and the popular stars are read first by their secretaries—they have to be! No matter how much they may wish to read at once every word written to them!

Father As Best Man?

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be in good taste for the groom to have his own father as his best man? This is to be a wedding of some size. That is, there will be six ushers, six bridesmaids, maid of honor and two little flower girls. I thought quite possibly, since there were so many others, all younger, that the father would be out of place.

Answer: How agreeable to the young people the father may be is a question which the bride and groom can alone decide. But from the point of view of good taste, the idea is not at all strange. It is to make a wedding of half a dozen weddings at which the groom's father was the best man. To be sure, these fathers have been unusually young, and needless to say, unusual companions to their sons, who would not otherwise have chosen them. However, if there is any likelihood that the wedding party will be "paired off" and that the maid of honor may wish she had a young man to sit next to and dance with, it is easy enough to invite one or two extra young men to any parties given. In fact, extra young men always help to make a party "go!"

A Friendly Pest

Dear Mrs. Post: Often during my shopping I like to slip away to a room where I hope to be alone to collect my thoughts, and rest. Lately, there is always some one who sits down at my small table, no matter how many empty tables are there, and wants to be friendly. I do not wish to be rude, but please tell me what one can do, short of rudeness when this happens.

Answer: You can say to the head waitress at the room, "I'd like to sit alone," or if you want to explain, say, "I am very tired—could you let me have a table to myself?" Or, "Can you put me somewhere alone? I've such a bad headache." (Released By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Names and Signatures." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Make Gifts Easily From Colorful Gourds

What attractive gifts you can make from gaily colored gourds! And at shops right now you can have your pick of bright, inexpensive beauties.

For a truly handsome lamp base find a hardshell gourd with long neck and flat bottom. Wash and dry thoroughly, cut off top and make a small hole near bottom of gourd, through which you run a rubber-covered wire for the light—as our diagram shows.

Then fill your gourd two-thirds full of sand to weight it. Attach rubber socket with push-button switch to wire at neck, make firm with plaster of Paris.

Now, finish your lamp base with a coat of shellac or clear varnish—add a smart shade.

You can make pretty soap flake holders, fascinating nut and candy bowls, too, from gourds. And just as easily and inexpensively you can make other gifts for Christmas, birthdays.

Our 32-page booklet gives complete directions for dozens of items—such as cellophane cases for lingerie, napkins and plates, goldfish bathroom curtains, utility bathroom boxes, chest for toys, adorable bookrack table, sewing stand, book ends, recipe file.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of HAND-MADE GIFT NOV-ELTIES to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Prefabricated Kitchen Has Many Advantages

An example of the advantages of prefabrication as applied to the building industry is the modern kitchen. Standardization and mass production of kitchen and bathroom equipment are not only effecting substantial economies in the cost of materials and their installation, but are speeding up new construction and the modernization of old kitchens.

Prefabrication of kitchen equipment received its impetus from the development of the cabinet type of sink. Subsequently matching floor and wall cabinets were developed to harmonize with the cabinets under the sink.

Today it is possible for the housewife to select the entire equipment for a new or modernized kitchen from standardized prefabricated units which include wall and base cabinets, cabinets under the enamel iron sink, and a kitchen range which is so constructed that it will fit perfectly into the stream-lined ensemble effect created by the standardized units.

Despite the fact that these units are made in standard sizes, they are available in such a wide range of models and colors that there is ample opportunity for the housewife to plan a kitchen which will reflect her own personal taste. There are three types of cabinets available for kitchens. These are wall cabinets, base cabinets and vertical cabinets.

Base cabinets are placed under the sink and under counters adjoining the sink or stove. All base cabinets are made the same heights as the sink and range, namely, 36 inches. Studies by home economics experts carried on with the assistance of the plumbing industry have revealed that this is the correct height for the average woman. It is possible to vary the height if desired. Ample toe space is provided at the base of the cabinets.

The eight-month period of state and municipal bond sales represented an increase of $259,589,980 as compared with the first eight months of last year, a gain of $187,483,922 over the corresponding months of 1937, a rise of $167,207,850 above the same period of 1936, and $127,547,679 over the first eight months of 1935.

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

YESTERDAY: Buff suggests that George offer to buy back the land at the price Iris said. If Iris accepts, she's on the level, but if she refuses, she probably has another buyer.

Chapter 25

The Drama

BUFF hated her task. Her open, forthright nature rebelled against what amounted to spying upon Iris. But Tim, she reminded herself again and again, had to be saved from this second and far more dangerous plot.

"And after I've yanked him out of her clutches, he can sink or swim, lose his way or keep to a straight and narrow path," said Miss Carroll with a fine scrambling metaphor. "He'll hate me even more than he does now if he knows I've snatched him from the burning. Well, that's all right too. Just so I spring the trap before it closes on him, it doesn't matter about me." She rather spoiled the beautifully realistic sentiment she was trying to express by a sigh that seemed to rise from her small custom-made brogues.

She had known Iris from the first to be almost pitifully lacking in brains, entirely lacking in subtlety. She was like a movie extra who went through her small part with conscientious accuracy. For two days she was very much the engaged girl, staying close to the hotel save when she appeared radiant and shyly happy in Tim's car. Buff kept doggedly behind them, feeling herself to be a cross between an international spy and a jealous schoolgirl.

But the third morning brought important results. Tim's car was parked near the hotel when Buff arrived. Evidently he had left it there for Iris to use. About ten she came out, wearing the new fur coat which had made its appearance in the last few days, and headed for Denver. Buff trailed her excitedly.

Iris drove in character, the younger girl thought, putting on little spurts of speed exactly at the wrong time, slowing down in the midst of busy traffic, making use of hand signals which would puzzle the most expert motorist, but eventually she drew up in front of a small hotel in the city miraculously finding a parking place.

Buff was not so fortunate. By the time she had disposed of her car and entered the lobby Iris was nowhere to be seen. There was nothing for it but to wait for her. Buff selected an inconspicuous spot behind a clump of dusty palms and kept one eye on her watch, the other on the elevator. She suspected her quarry was in a parlor on the mezzanine, but felt it was too dangerous a business to follow her.

It was nearly half-past one before Iris came down. There were two men with her, one unmistakably Lashaw, Buff silently blessed George. Whether or not she was sketching, there were the pouches beneath the eyes—eyes coldly gray now—the little jut to the big nose, the thin lips. He kept close to Iris, not a word nor gesture of hers lost on him.

The other man was bluff and genial. Only the expression of his face betrayed him to the watching girl. There was a sly triumph in the look of having put something over on a woman; a sly and unsuspecting woman, at that. Buff's feminism almost rose in revolt at what she read in his eyes, his full-lipped mouth. For a moment even Tim's safety hung in the balance when Iris turned her head with a coquettish smile, and Buff hardened her heart.

The Curtain Rises

SHE was uncertain of what to do. It was patent that she could not follow Iris about Denver. Yet she felt the crisis of the situation to be upon them. Unwittingly it was Iris herself—stupid Iris who could not even obey orders without blundering!—who gave her the help she needed.

"Shall we all lunch together and then meet at Nesbit's office? It's late," she went on plaintively, "and I'm starved. And"—this time her arch glance rested on Lashaw who returned it without expression—"I think I've earned something rather special in the way of food today."

"Where?" demanded Lashaw.

"Oh, the Shirley-Savoy! And the kind of luncheon that's a real celebration."

Lashaw opened his thin lips to protest, thought better of it; and the three moved toward the revolving door. Buff flew toward the telephone, praying silently that George Weekes had returned from his own lunch, and that he was not out on a surveying job. To her vast relief his cheery voice answered.

"Hello!"

"George, this is Buff," she began rapidly. "Will you do exactly what I ask you to do?"

"Y-yes, I suppose so. But where are you?"

"Denver," she snapped. "And don't begin asking questions. I'll do the talking. You get Tim—handcuff him and gag him if you have to, but get him!—and drive here as fast as you can. Park where you can watch the front entrance to the Shirley-Savoy. Or if you can't park, get out, and stand around until you see Iris and Lashaw and another man come out. Then—"

"Lashaw?" George howled.

"Ho-ly smoke! Buff, you're—"

"Will you listen?" she demanded coldly. "You all but shattered my eardrum then. Watch till you see them come out, then follow them. They'll head for Nesbit's office. If by chance you lose 'em—I mean if it gets to be about three o'clock, you go on to Nesbit's anyway. Iris has just started out for what she called a celebration luncheon at the Shirley-Savoy. From there the three will go to call on Nesbit. Need I be more specific?"

"You needn't," was the solemn assurance. "The game is in the bag, or would be," he added on a sudden uneasy note. "If I knew how certain I am to get Tim to Denver. He'll certainly balk at spying on Iris."

"Get him here by telling him she's in trouble and going to need him," said the graceless child at the other end of the line. "And heaven knows that's going to be true as soon as Lashaw finds what is happening. If he begins to get restless about waiting for her at the hotel, or suspects something amiss, then bully him into staying. Tell him it's your right to know what's going on; that there's such a thing as loyalty to one's friends and business partners as well as to one's self. Your tongue is a nimble enough, George. Use it!"

She was oddly exhausted when she turned away from the booth. She had had an early breakfast, the strain of her discovery was beginning to tell upon her. She longed to head her car back toward Boulder and leave the rest of the affair to Weekes. But Buff had not sacrificed her pride, given up her beloved lecture course, spied on another girl, invited—and received!—Tim's cold fury at her efforts on his behalf only to abandon those efforts at the last minute.

Act One

"MEN," she thought, "will never do the right thing, if it's humanly possible to do the wrong one. George has a lot at stake, but how do I know he won't get tired waiting, or think it's a wild idea on my part—anything. No, I've got to see it through. I'll have a cup of coffee and a sandwich and then I'll skulk about the Shirley-Savoy and see what I can see. Oh, Lance—Eleanor! If you could behold your only child at this minute!"

An hour and a quarter later the small person drifting to and fro in the busy crowd before the big hotel was rewarded by the sight of George and Tim the former driving the shabby car they owned jointly, the latter sitting grimly by his side, neither speaking. Buff could not forbear a chuckle at the picture they made. It was evident to the most casual spectator that they had had a row; that Tim had yielded, reluctantly and angrily to whatever argument George had put forward. He was in the mood. Buff knew to rush to Iris's rescue even if he saw her in the company of Lashaw.

"But that's only Act One in this thrilling drama by Buff Carroll, starring Miss Iris DeMuth and featuring the Unknown Buyer. Act Two will do the business. And," tears from her eyes, "Act Three will throw the playwright out on her ear, however successful the play may have been from the box-office standpoint."

It all worked with unexpected smoothness. George was wheeling his car by the hotel entrance for the third time when the three came out: Iris with a gardenia pinned to the shoulder of her new coat, Lashaw looking like a cat about to spring on a mouse, the second man smiling. Buff had a glimpse of Tim's startled face before George sent the car past as rapidly as he could with safety.

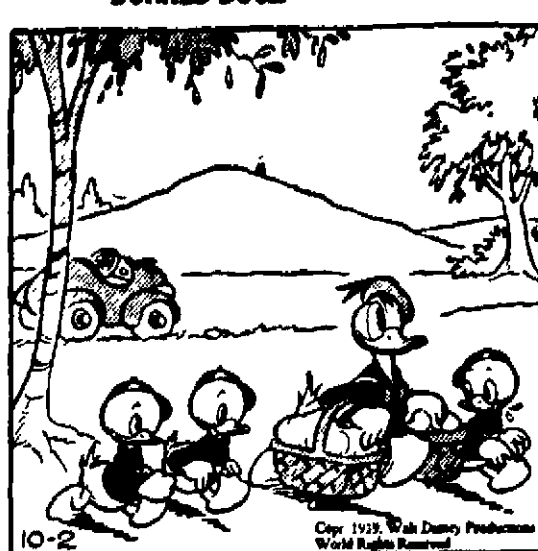

Buff felt oddly breathless when she got her own car from the parking lot and drove it toward the big building which housed Nesbit's modest office. The delay was sufficient to show her the first party going in at the entrance. She waited until she saw Tim, white and plainly furious, and George, anxious but stern, follow; then she circled the block and turned back toward Boulder.

It was her hour of triumph, but no victor ever experiences less exultation than she. Her very flesh seemed sore and bruised, and her heart, she decided with a gulp of misery, was merely a cold, aching lump in her breast. She wanted nothing but a hot bath and a bed; Webby to bring her a tray at supper-time perhaps, and to answer the telephone and doorbell with the information that Miss Carroll was—what? Ill? Gone to Little America? In the hospital at Denver with a fractured skull and critical internal injuries? Anything, anything that would keep people away!

She didn't want to see George. She hated him as a fellow conspirator in what she now felt to be a piece of treachery on her part. Because, look! she adjured herself. "Why should I offend all my principles, practically starve and freeze myself, run the risk of being arrested for vagrancy in Denver, miss a couple of motor accidents by a half of a split hair, just to prove to a dumb-bell that he is a dumb-bell? Especially when he'll probably come around and brain me when I have proved it."

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

"Help Wanted—Male"

Steuvenville, O.—Ohio's matrimonial bargain for today appeared to be the young man who put himself on the market with this advertisement in a Steuvenville newspaper:

"I am 29 years of age, and am willing to marry any girl or woman who can put me back on my feet until I can get a job to support her. I do not drink, chew tobacco, smoke or gamble. I can cook and do housework."

Emergency

Los Angeles — Dr. Alfred Schramm, arrested for driving 65

miles an hour, told the judge he was on an emergency call. But police testified he kissed a companion as he sped by.

The woman was his wife and they consider it good luck to kiss after driving under a bridge, shyly explained the doctor.

The judge smiled, gave them a suspended sentence.

A Better Reason

Los Angeles—Nine husky sheriff's deputies felt pretty bad about their low scores on the pistol range. Banished to the "crying room," reserved for poor marksmen, they shed tears.

But that was because State Highway Patrolman Arthur Fessler, who also had a poor score, accidentally dropped a team gas bomb.

A few extra jars of jelly put up now will make attractive Christmas gifts.

OFFICE CAT

By Junina

Many a man thinks he has an open mind when it is merely vacant.

Sam—My girl got her nose broken in three places.

Jim—Well, she should keep out of those places.

The fellow who burns the candle at both ends is usually found with a little flame in the dark.

We have some nice kissing jokes we're going to serve next.

Sweet Young Thing—Are mine the only lips you ever kissed?

Young Man—Yes, dear, and the nicest.

Young Man—I think kissing is a lost art.

Girl Friend—Well, if you ask me, I'd say you were quite the art collector, young man.

She—Don't kiss me or I'll call father! (Smack!) She—Sweet Daddy.

Burglar Bill—And after you got away from the cop, where did you hide?

Burglar Jake—Oh, I just ducked into the city hall, flopped down in a chair and put my feet on a desk.

The minister missed his calling on the day referred to below.

In a small town in Mississippi on a hot dusty day, two negro baseballs teams, surrounded by their dusky devotees, were engaged in a very important baseball game. The colored preacher of the community had been approved by both teams for the position of umpire in this contest—because, as the home team pointed out, a person couldn't do wrong.

The visiting team's clean-up man stood in the batter's box. The bases were loaded.

"Ball one, high!" the voice of authority boomed.

"Ball two, low!"

"Ball three, inside!"

"Ball four, low and wide—you are out!"

Batsman (mutinous)—How does you talk, Mister Ump? Ah gets a base for dat!

Umpire—Brother, you is right—but de bases am loaded, and Ah ain't got no place to put you. You is out!

You ain't getting old when your hair turns gray.

You ain't getting old when your teeth decay.

You're getting old fast and the slipping down hill where the grade is steep.

When your head makes a date that your body can't keep.

We used to be able to kiss our money good-bye, but now it gets away so fast it cannot even be kissed before it skips out of sight.

Frank—I'm sick of it. There should be a law against this cheek-to-cheek dancing.

Geraldine—Why, I'm surprised. I never thought you were so puritanical.

Frank—I'm not, but so much powder gets my hay fever going.

Jack—The more I look at you, dear, the more beautiful you seem.

Anne (expectantly)—Yes?

Jack (brutally)—I ought to look at you oftener.

Mr. Newbridge—Darling the pea soup is full of sugar.

Mrs. Newbridge—Of course, dear. I made it out of sweet-peas!

30 Days for Assault

James Jackson, 37, Glasco negro, was committed to the Ulster county jail Saturday for 30 days following arraignment before Justice Charles H. Bennett of Saugerties on a charge of assault in the third degree. Jackson was arrested at Glasco by Sergeant Cunningham and Trooper Keefe.

Holy Name Holds Rally; 5,000 March

A steady downpour in the metropolis during the entire morning. The American Legion Band of Ossining, in blue uniforms and "tin" hats, deserved all the applause it received.

One of the finest musical organizations in line was the Mt. Carmel Fife, Drum & Bugle Corps of Poughkeepsie. In fact, the whole Dutchess-Putnam division was well represented in bands and marchers. Perhaps the most colorful in line was the Beacon Boys Fife, Drum & Bugle Corps, who led St. Joseph's of Beacon. The Young America Hose No. 6 of Poughkeepsie led the Holy Name branches from St. Peter's, St. Mary's and Holy Trinity churches, Poughkeepsie.

In picking the fine musical organizations in line, a judge could not overlook the Vail-Wolf Post over the Corps from the Newburgh band. The Newburgh band, too, was good, although it lacked the military air usually considered essential in marching.

The Kingston High School Band, with three drum majorettes, were worthy representatives of Kingston. This band led a large delegation from St. Joseph's Church, headed by the Rev. Thomas Larkin, the Rev. John McCaffrey, the Rev. John Simmons and the Hon. John T. Loughran.

Plenty of Everything

The whole Ulster county contingent had everything that went with a good parade, plenty of music and plenty of marchers. The Legion Junior Drum Corps of Saugerties was there with a delegation from St. Mary's Church, Saugerties; there was the Washburn Bros. Co. Band leading the Holy Name men of St. Joseph's, Glasgow; the Kingston American Legion Fife & Drum Corps leading a large representation from St. Peter's, Kingston; the Port Ewen Fire Dept. Drum Corps playing for the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen, and St. Ann's, Sawkill; the Polish Holy Name Band of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Kingston, leading a large delegation from that church. Delegations from the smaller branches in the county marched with the larger contingent.

A little boy swinging a baton brought waves of applause as he led the Clayton Military Band, Ellenville, playing for St. Andrew's, Ellenville; St. Augustine's, Highland and St. Francis de Sales, Phoenixia. An especially large turnout from St. Mary's branch, led by the Kingston Units Drum Corps, 15th E. A., marched at the end of the parade.

The parade staged in conjunction of the first Holy Name rally ever held in Ulster county ranked well with those of previous rallies in other parts of the archdiocese and could not have but impressed in a spiritual sense the thousands of spectators. Some of the most prominent citizens in the archdiocese walked with men of a lesser station in life, but all with the same motive—to pay homage to the Holy Name of Jesus and to demonstrate jointly their Catholicity.

Police Chief J. Allen Wood cooperated with the Holy Name society authorities. Regular patrolmen and special policemen regulated traffic courteously and efficiently. Traffic was kept moving along as rapidly as possible under the conditions that existed. All vehicular traffic was barred from the line of march during the parade.

The largest crowd which has ever assembled at the new Municipal stadium braved the cold north wind which threatened at any moment to release a downpour, and listened to the preliminary addresses of welcome and the following talks given by the Rev. Charles Reilly, C. S. R., professor of moral theology, Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, and Hon. John T. Loughran, associate justice of the Court of Appeals.

From the singing of the National Anthem by the thousands of assembled members of the Holy Name societies and other visitors through the Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament following by the recitation of the Holy Name pledge and the final hymn, "Hail God we praise Thy Name," the crowd within the stadium remained at strict attention, breaking their silence at frequent intervals to applaud the speakers.

The Rev. Edmund Burke, divisional director of the Holy Name Societies of Ulster county, opened the impressive program with the introduction of the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, P. R. V. F., dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties. In his opening remarks and welcome Father Drury said that the rally was the first ever held in this city solely "for the honor of God and His Holy Name."

In his introductory remarks Father Burke thanked the members of the committees, Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, the Kingston Police Department, Kingston Fire Department and other city officials and departments contributing to the great success of the rally.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman was then presented and in the name of the City of Kingston welcomed the visitors. Mayor Heiselman said:

City's Welcome

Very Reverend Dean Drury, other Reverend members of the clergy, Judge Loughran, officers of the Holy Name Societies of New York archdiocese, and ladies and gentlemen:

On behalf of the people of this city, I extend to you a warm and cordial welcome. It is a genuine pleasure for me, as I know it must be for all of the citizens of Kingston, to welcome such a host of Catholic men, dedicated to the worship of God and to the keeping of His Commandments.

Kingston, one of the three original settlements in New York state, is known as the Colonial City, because here a great deal of colonial history was made. Kingston was the first capital of the Empire State and here the first state constitution was adopted and the first supreme court met. Kingston has a long and illustrious history and many important events have occurred here which have influenced the history not only of the community and state, but of the nation.

Today another very important chapter of the city's history has been written. Today, for the first time in Kingston's history, 5,000 men, with bands playing, have marched through the streets of Kingston in the name of God and freedom. This demonstration of faith happily comes at a time when Kingston and the nation needs such parades to serve notice that not those who would destroy our religion shall prevail, but that those who love God and liberty shall prevail in America.

Civilization cannot long endure without the beneficent influences of religion upon the human heart and conscience.

Pagan leaders of Europe have dedicated themselves to the destruction of religion and human liberty. If religion disappears, civilization will follow in its wake. Recent events in Europe lead to the belief that it is already beginning to happen.

This must not happen in America. Alien and irreligious influences have been and are still at work in this country which are striving to force their godless ideologies upon us. When European paganism rears its head in this country, it must be immediately struck down. Let those who are opposed to our American democracy, with its many blessings, get out of America on the first boat and leave Americans in peace to their duty of a free people in peace and with God as our guide.

In the meantime, eternal vigilance is the price of freedom. Your organization is vigilant. Your organization is spreading the gospel of God and Americanism. There never has been a time in the history of America when we needed organizations such as yours more than we need them at present.

When the history of our country is written covering the critical period through which we are now passing, historians will record with gratitude the services rendered for the preservation of America by such organizations as the Holy Name Societies which are dedicated to the faith of God and to human liberty.

In conclusion, I wish to congratulate the members of our local committee, all of whom have worked so faithfully and diligently in planning for your proper reception and entertainment. I also wish to thank all others who have cooperated with the committee in making this parade and rally the big success which it was.

I invite you, at the conclusion of these ceremonies, to linger a while in Kingston and get acquainted with our good people who are anxious to shake your hand in friendship. May you return home spiritually refreshed and rededicated to your splendid ideals, and may you always remember Kingston as a place where your coming was hailed with joy and your departure with sorrow.

Come to Kingston again. We shall always be glad to see you.

The crowd, which filled the seating capacity of the stadium and overflowed to the bleachers and field in front of the speakers platform, gave each of the speakers in turn a warm and hearty reception. Following Mayor Heiselman Father Burke presented the Rev. Charles Reilly, C. S. R., professor of moral theology at Mt. St. Alphonsus.

Father Reilly Speaks

Father Reilly spoke in part: Excerpts from address of the Rev. Charles F. Reilly, C. S. R.: "In these days of religious indifference and unbelief, it is deeply inspiring and gratifying to behold this public profession of faith in Jesus Christ, and to witness this moving demonstration of the unity and strength of the Catholic religion displayed by men from different cities and towns, of different nationalities and political convictions, yet all brothers in Christ whose standard they bear aloft, declaring to the world that Christ lives and reigns in their hearts. This splendid outpouring of men is more than a grand and impressive parade; it is the uncompromising answer to the challenge of a godless world; it is the religious manifestation of honor and loyalty to God and to His Church; it is the glowing testimony of the constant vigor and vitality of the church that alone stands adamant against the countless assaults of the God-haters and the church-baiters."

Old In Growth

"The church has grown old down the centuries, watching political, economic, and social revolutions, and she has survived them all. She has weathered innumerable storms; she has seen the rise and fall of monarchies and dictatorships; and she has been at the birth and death of systems of thought and morality that have long since been cast into the limbo of fashionable fads and crooked ideas. She is not afraid of the rampant atheism and radicalism that threaten to destroy supernatural religion; she is not cowed down by fanatical and cold-blooded dictators; she refuses to trade the cross for the swastika, to exchange the cross for the fasces, to bury the cross before the clenched fist, sickle, and hammer, as a condition of her existence and tolerance. She has suffered in the past; from the days when the blood of martyrs purpled the arenas of Rome; she is suffering today in countries where attempts are made to throttle her and beat her into submission; and she will suffer in the future, because she will not adapt herself to the ignoble and degrading policy of compromising with the truths of faith and the dictates of morality. She goes on her way, calm and patient and forbearing, the deathless church that she is, buoyed up and strengthened by the divine assurance of Christ Himself, 'Behold, I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world.'"

"The church stands today as the stood for centuries, the guardian of civilization and liberty, as the symbol of peace, ready to give to the world the solution of its riddles. Men have tried to argue her out of existence, have sneered at her practice of the virtues of charity, humility, poverty and purity; they have attacked her for her condemnation of the vices of lust, avarice, pride, selfishness and injustice; they have tried to defame her, to ignore her, even though they do not love her."

False Prophets

"Every age has its false prophets, irreligious teachers, and treacherous guides who corrupt innocent minds by their denial and rejection of the truths of morality and religion. Their influence is the more pernicious today because of the abuse of the principle of the freedom of speech. They arrogate to themselves the office of teacher, and open up the floodgates of error and falsehood; they hold forth on the lecture platform, in the daily paper, the magazine and the novel. There is the teaching of materialism, who claims that Christianity is a failure, that Christ is an impostor, that man has no immortal soul, that there is no heaven or hell. There is the teacher of irreligion who claims that religion is too narrow, that it must be repudiated by education and reason, who tries to whittle away the laws of Christ that are irksome and difficult. There is the teacher of immorality who justifies easy divorce as the key to happiness, who justifies the violation of the sacredness of the marriage bond on the pretext of natural instincts, who advocates eugenic procreation and selective generation by illicit birth control, and who by lax morals and lying maxims is tearing down the props of religious and civil society. 'Be aware of false prophets,' said Our Lord, 'who come to you in the clothing of sheep... by their fruits you shall know them.' The church heeds that warning of her founder, and today as ever she undertakes to point errors in doctrines and theories that are harmful and calculated to undermine faith and good morals. In doing so she is no more infringing on our personal liberty and putting a restraint upon us than this city and thinking. Let us be ready to combat systems that would banish God and His Holy Name from the earth, and that would leave us at the mercy of a barren materialism, so destructive of religion, country and home. Let us be heralds of peace and not of hate; let us arm ourselves with the sword of justice that leads to peace, and not with the instruments of war that lead to slaughter."

Loughran's Address

Judge John T. Loughran of this city was presented at the conclusion of Father Reilly's address for the clergy. Judge Loughran, Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals, gave the address for the laity and spoke in part:

Judge Loughran Speaks

Judge Loughran said in part: We hold our rally at a time when an international controversy threatens to shatter the life of the world. Men and nations are under a daily terror which is now in one general form following a widespread appeal to the forces of death and destruction. We shall be happy indeed if the great lessons of this day and hour bring to us a firm resolution to stand by our ancient citadels and to keep our own houses in order. There is no better contribution we can make to the cause of faith in God and faith in man.

In his message of January 4th, this year, the president of the United States said to the congress: "Storms from abroad directly challenge three institutions indispensable to Americans, now as always. The first is religion. It is the source of the other two—democracy and international good faith. Religion, by teaching man his relationship to God, gives the individual a sense of his own dignity and teaches him to respect himself by respecting his neighbors." In saying this, the president fired a shot against secularism that has been heard around the world. I take his words for my text today.

Holds No Novelty

The proposition that religion is the source of democracy holds no element of novelty. It is a truth that is instinct in the deathless documents that declared our independence as a nation. The fathers of the republic thereby proclaimed their faith in a universal human conscience. They there put the cause of humanity above the cause of any race or nationality. It was, as they said, "a decent respect for the opinions of mankind" that impelled them to state for posterity the moral justification for the establishment of a new nation. "It was, as they said, 'to the Supreme Judge of the World' that they made their ultimate appeal for the rectitude of their intentions. In that same profoundly reverent spirit, they declared that all men are created equal; that all men have the right, as a gift of God, to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; and that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. Ours, then, is a government that is founded—not on power, or caste, or position or property—but upon human rights, upon rights that are inherent and inalienable in the spirit and soul of man. It is a government that is based on the sacredness of the human personality. It is a government that rests upon the truth that a man is a man—a being with a soul and an infinite complexity of sensibilities and hopes and fears that set him apart from every other man in the world.

This axiom that "all men are created equal" has been much misunderstood. Let us be clear about it today. Nobody can believe that any two men are equal in physical or in mental resources, or equal in culture or in grace, or equal even in point of natural opportunity. Equality in any of these things is not the equality to which we owe the greatness of this republic. On the contrary, the equality inherent in our American system means that no man should enjoy any man-made or hereditary privilege over his fellows and that all men have the right to liberty under law.

In short, when we speak of the equality of men under our free and popular institutions, we mean a spiritual equality—that is to say, the equality of men as persons.

These spiritual ideals, as the president said, are directly challenged today by storms from abroad. Over there, we know, some hold that man does not live for any world but this one, and that there is no reason for his existence but the good of the State, or the good of a class or the good of a race. Over there, as we know, some hold that moral considerations must be subordinated to one or another of certain vague forms of so-called manifest destiny. Over there, indeed, some dominant classes or groups seem to conceive their highest duty to be the persecution and plundering of their neighbors.

Against all such theories, Catholic philosophy inflexibly has set its face. For to the Catholic Church, all persons of all classes and all races, are alike the children of God for whom he has appointed the same eternal destiny. But the modern class and racist movements are not at war with the Catholic Church alone. These movements also challenge the good genius of our American legal and political conceptions. I have said that any other than a spiritual equality of men is no more possible under any government than under any other. I acknowledge also that—outside the spiritual order—inequalities of classes and races are as inevitable in these United States as in any other land. I know, too, that pride of race is embodied in every man of normal instincts. But grant that one race or race may be more superior to another and grant that in some instances may be a legitimate reason for racial pride. Even so, it does not follow—and it would be un-American to maintain—that the individual persons of any one class or race should on that ground alone stand in any position of preference over the rest of the land. Any such idea strikes at the very equality which I have said and I repeat, is the basic ideal of our distinctively American system of governing ourselves.

Justification of that ideal need not be based on our American experience alone. All recorded history bears witness that the merely materialistic social level that has ever been established in this world has in the end been a low level and a dead level. Such level kills democracy and law as it kills religion and morality and any people, when so leveled, has had and will have, its master. History repeats itself to us. We have witnessed in our time the fall of democracies and the establishment of one-man rule in many foreign nations. In our day, we have seen historic peoples—peoples who long were liberty-loving—commit their very individual lives to the all but absolute control of other men.

Against that background, we have assembled today as Americans citizens of the Catholic faith. With us it is the solemn conviction that the Catholic Church, now and from its foundation, is and has been the surest bulwark against the destructive philosophy that this life is mankind's only concern. In whatever attractive phrases that philosophy may be dressed, it is to us the philosophy of gross materialism and ultimate brutality.

We have no quarrel with our fellow citizens of other religious faiths. We are happy of the tenets of our own faith is accorded to us with the same American freedom that we accord to the practice by others of their own faiths. By the first article of the Bill of Rights of their federal constitution, the people of the United States have said that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." The fundamental law of the state of New York makes this like provision: "The free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship without discrimination or preference shall forever be allowed in this state to all mankind." It is thus to the glory of our governments, state and national, that freedom of religion is put beyond the reach of hasty legislative action that could perhaps result from temporary hysteria or passion.

At the conclusion of the speaking program William Reible gave an solo, "Psalms Angelicus." This was followed by Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament with the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, P. R. V. F., pastor of St. Mary's Church, as celebrant; the Rev. A. Geils of Ellenville as deacon; the Rev. Stanislaus Malinowski of the Church of the Immaculate Conception as sub-deacon; the Rev. Henry E. Herdogen, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Church, as master of ceremonies. A choir of thirty voices from Mt. St. Alphonsus at Esopus sang during the Benediction.

There followed the recitation of the Holy Name pledge by the Rev. Edmund Burke with responses by the members of the Holy Name Societies, and the services were brought to a close with the hymn, "Holy God we praise Thy Name" which was sung by the entire assemblage.

A battered and near-crippled even held on bravely for Kingston High School at municipal stadium Saturday afternoon to push aside a last quarter onslaught by the Amsterdam High Gridders. When the same bruised and weary players of the Maroons and White gladiators had played their opening tussle by the score of 20 to 19.

Paying the way for the triumph was Captain Jack Fallon who is a reliable successor to Vince Stoll last year. Throughout the hard-fought battle Fallon whipped out passes which were good for yards. Two of Fallon's chucks were in the opening session when Kingston, apparently looking forward to a quick kill, slammed over to touchdowns. After this the Maroons' attack bogged down at Amsterdam, taking the advantage, cracked back in the second quarter to tie the score.

To cope with Fallon's amazing passes Amsterdam presented Dick Bogdan in its lineup. Bogdan averaged three touchdowns scores to Maroon. In all, Dick chucked passes and had 23 completions for 198 yards through the air. In the last five minutes of the game Bogdan whipped a pass to Fallon from Kingston's 18 and the receiver caught it on the five and amped over for the score.

Although Captain Fallon and Jimmy Ashdown stood out in the opening ledger one of Coach Kias' scores remained in the tussle enough to turn the tide from defeat to victory. It was in the last minutes of the third stanza Amsterdam, bent on driving to Kingston's territory, pushed Bogdan back in pass formation.

Chris Perry, a substitute end, dashed in and dropped the intended pass on Kingston's 49. After this Bogdan tried it again and Jay DeWitt plucked the ball out of the air on his 41 and galloped over to Amsterdam's 32.

With the fourth quarter under way Jimmy Ashdown took the ball from center, cut off tackle, side-stepped a few would-be tacklers and dashed up the sidelines. Jimmy was finally forced out of bounds on the goal line after a 32-yard run. Kingston's next play saw Jay DeWitt taking it over for the score. The leading marker followed as DeWitt plowed over for Kingston's 20th point.

After the kickoff Amsterdam tried to penetrate the Maroon line again. With no success the updaters booted and Ashdown returned to his own 26. Referee Brubaker called a clipping penalty on Kingston, giving the ball to Amsterdam on the locals' 35. Dick Bogdan started to work again with his deadly heaves. Amsterdam worked up to the 18 after a three one to Dudka. Exactly five minutes were left as Bogdan dropped back and spotted a chuck in the clear. Quickly he waved and Wickes snatched it on the five. From there he went galloping over for a touchdown. In an attempt to tie the score Bogdan dashed but this time it failed.

Kingston's initial two scores came in the opening minutes of the game. Runs by Fallon and DeWitt moved the ball to the 48. A pass to the 45 put Fallon back and the first toss was grabbed by Ashdown on the 38 of Amsterdam. Putting beautifully Ashdown went amping over the back of the line for a score. The only man who had a chance was Norm Kennedy and was rubbed out nicely by Hop-who played a swell game. Brubaker kicked the seventh extra. Kingston's next score came as a result of 68 yard sussed march. It was climaxed on passes—one to DeWitt and another to Ashdown who galloped over.

Press Box Jottings
The press box on top of the stadium was a big help to the writers. Next Saturday Kingston's Norm Kennedy at the latter's home. Kingston must improve its pass defense, mainly in the line on the flats. The line stand some going over, too. Kingston's biggest setback was numerous battered players. Darling, Joe Benjamin and were socked around freely. Full time men are needed. Of course, the warm chills didn't help the men either. The Maroon team was penalized 95 yards, on the one situation. This boy Dick and his pass receiver, Crocetti and Warren Wickes, tops. If they had a little running attack, Kingston have indeed been in a tough spot. Coaches Boyd Miller and Westover had a busy afternoon setting the players who had out of the game. It was to see "Josh" Fraser, former H.S. trainer, on the sidelines. Old man sickness was out for a while. About the game but one could tell it by the noise. The band in all its splendor and but still the students set.

Borax in Death Valley
The borax deposits of Death valley, 300 feet below sea level in California, were found only about 60 years ago by one Aaron Winters and his wife, Rosie, who lived in another valley nearby, 200 miles distant from the nearest inhabited settlement. Taking his wife along, Winters traveled 400 miles to obtain chemicals for prospecting Death valley borax. A month later he found one of the largest borax deposits in the world in the valley, and sold his claim for 5,000 pounds.

Here three Manhattan players, including Quarterback Frank Gnuip (24) drive in to close hole opened for Joe.

Intersectional Grid Slate Looks More Impressive

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—The nation's leading football teams launch an impressive intersectional program this week. Already off to a good start with such results as Pittsburgh's 27-6 victory over Washington, Minnesota's 62-0 rout of Arizona, Mississippi State's 19-0 triumph over Arkansas, the 30-0 beating Missouri handed Colorado and Vanderbilt's 13-12 upset of Rice last Saturday, the intersectional warfare spreads even more widely.

Taking the week's program by sections, this is how it looks: Pitt's Panthers already have shown they're among the best in the east. West Virginia, despite a 44-0 win over West Virginia Wesleyan, hardly figures to stop Pitt this week.

Holy Cross, which trimmed Manhattan 28-0, faces Louisiana State, 14-7 victim of Mississippi. Fordham, after trimming Wayneburg 34-7, faces Alabama, 21-0 victor over Little Howard. Army, which had some trouble stopping Furman 16-7, faces easier southern opposition in Centre while Navy tackles Virginia's good team after trimming William and Mary 31-6.

The leading all-eastern pairing is Carnegie Tech, one of the best eastern teams, against Temple, which dropped a 3-2 decision to Georgetown Friday. The "Ivy League" barely gets under way with Columbia-Yale and Syracuse-Cornell as its leading games. Syracuse tuned up Friday with a 12-0 win over Clarkson. Penn-Lafayette, Princeton-Williams and Harvard-Bates are other openers.

Midwest: Minnesota's powerful Gophers are due for a real test against Nebraska, which fought Indiana to a 7-7 tie Saturday. Notre Dame, whose hard-won 2-0 triumph over Purdue showed 2-0 Irish are in the forefront of the national title picture, faces an untested Georgia Tech outfit.

Ohio State opens against Missouri. Northwestern starts off with Oklahoma's Sooners, who tied with Southern Methodist at 7-7. Michigan opens against Indiana and Iowa start the Big Ten title race while Iowa State and Kansas, a pair of losers, meet in the first Big Six tussle. Wisconsin, which edged out Marquette 14-13, plays Texas, 12-0 winner over Florida. Marquette visits Kansas State. Chicago, after a 6-0 loss to Betoit, faces Wabash.

South: Duke-Rose-Bowl loser last January, opens against Colgate, which dropped a 7-6 decision to New York University.

Yankees' Pitching Staff Is Thrown Off Balance

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—The limb started to creak under the weight of the "experts" over the weekend, with indications that the Yankees' "best balanced" pitching staff had suddenly become lopsided.

A couple of kinks, one in Red Ruffing's arm and the other in Lefty Gomez's side, suddenly turned all the World Series analyses into a set of humpty dumpies, although things grew somewhat righted with the latest communique from Yankee Stadium.

These were that Ruffing's arm was considerably looser after a workout yesterday. The other was that Gomez, who strained a side muscle some days ago, had left the hospital, had reported for duty at the stadium and insisted he'd be ready to pitch one game of the classic against the Cincinnati Reds, which begins Wednesday.

Just how much each of these—the same twins who twirled the Yankees to three previous world championships—was improved remained to be seen. However, with the Rhinelanders arriving today, headed by fingers Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters, all agreed this was no time for the two top Bronx hurlers to come up with kinks.

Despite the reported readiness of the ailing pair, the "experts" who've been foreseeing a sweep for the champs weren't so sure today. And some of the boys who had got down at those 3-1 odds were even starting to hedge a bit.

Rain washed out the Yankees' final game of the season yesterday, while the Reds' split in Pittsburgh before grabbing a train for New York. This left the New Yorkers with 106 victories for the season and a final lead of 17 games in the American League.

The Rhinelanders wound up with a 4½-game bulge at the head of the National League pack. As the Cincinnati crew headed for town, it became evident Manager Bill McKechnie was going to lead with his ace. He announced he would toss Paul Derringer against the Yanks in the opening game Wednesday, which is expected to attract about 50,000 customers.

This would mean that Derringer and Ruffing would do the honors in the first game. Walters would follow for the Reds and Monte Pearson for the Yanks in Thursday's game, leaving Gomez to take one of the later tilts.

The third game comes off, unless a rain interrupts, in Cincinnati Saturday. With a day off for traveling, McKechnie is almost sure to come back in the third and fourth tilts with Derringer and Walters. Probably Bump Hadley and Gomez would oppose them.

Junior Thompson, the ex-class "B" hurler, is the likely choice for the Reds' fifth tosser, if necessary. The faithful are expected to turn out well enough this year to assure the winners of something like $5,000 each for their efforts, and the losers about $4,000.

Apostoli Boxes Garcia Tonight

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Two Californians clash in New York tonight for a world championship that will be recognized only by the New York and California boxing commissions.

Fred Apostoli, recognized as 160-pound ruler, here and in his home state, puts his "title" on the block in a 15-pound bout against Ceferino Garcia of Los Angeles at Madison Square Garden. In most other states, where the National Boxing Association is in charge, Al Hostak of Seattle is recognized as middleweight champion.

The Los Angeles Filipino has won nine fights among the 160-pounders, seven of them by knockouts.

Apostoli, who won his share of the title by knocking out Young Corbett, 3rd, last November, has dropped a couple of decisions to Billy Conn, the new light heavyweight king, and hasn't looked particularly good when he was winning. The champion, however, has been working particularly hard at his training chores.

Largely because of his weight advantage, Apostoli is a 5-8 favorite to win.

St. Peter's Bowlers To Meet Tuesday

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

(By The Associated Press)

The 1939 baseball season expired yesterday and shortly will be buried in the history books. Appraisers in years hence probably will find it is indeed buried when they go thumbing into the records.

Chiefly 1939 was the year the New York Yankees won their fourth consecutive American League championship and the Cincinnati Reds battled through to their first National League pennant in 20 years.

The Yankees took the lead in the first week of the season and after one short struggle in which they were up and down with the Boston Red Sox, gained permanent control May 11. They clinched their championship September 16 and finished with a 17-game margin.

The Reds had a nip-and-tuck scramble with the St. Louis Cardinals at the start of the season and gave an encore at the end of the show, although they led the senior circuit all the way from May 26. Their final margin was four and a half games.

The Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers provided the year's major surprises. Both were deep in the second division last year, but the Cardinals never were worse than third and the Dodgers wound up third in their only first division finish since 1932.

Larry MacPhail, mogul of the Dodgers, gambled his team's position for a million attendance yesterday and won. The club had drawn some 990,000 paid admissions and wanted to reach 1,000,000 for the season.

Rain fell all day and the club had third place clinched if it didn't play, but ran the risk of losing their position if defeated. They tossed out the Philadelphia Phillies in the rain 3-2 and reached both goals. A second scheduled game was canceled.

Inclement weather cut heavily into the final day's doubleheaders but Harry Gumbert managed to come up with one of his best pitching performances, a four-hitter, to give the Giants a 5-0 shut-out over the Boston Bees; the Chicago Cubs nosed out the Cardinals, 2-1, and Cincinnati's champions divided a meaningless double bill with the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1 and 6-0.

In the only American League games Joe Grace hit a homer in the ninth and drove in another run in the tenth to beat the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, for the St. Louis Browns, and Cleveland and Detroit split a twin-bill, 8-3 and 1-0. The first game was victory No. 24 for Bob Feller and the second Buck Newsum's 20th.

Besides this pair the season's 20 game winners included Cincinnati's great combination, Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters, Ruffing of the Cardinals, Red Leonard of the Washington Senators and Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin of Brooklyn.

Slugging reached no peak comparable to the 1938 season when Hank Greenberg knocked 58 home runs. The best this season was 35 by Jimmie Foxx of the Red Sox.

Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees wound up with a .381 figure accompanied by the American League hitting championship, Johnny Mize of the Cards topped the National with .349.

Bobby Feller Star Of Major Pitchers

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—The "star of the season" in the major league was young Bobby Feller, of the Cleveland Indians.

In The Associated Press' daily tabulation of "Yesterday's Stars" during the campaign Feller narrowly edged out Ted Williams, of the Boston Red Sox, and Bucky Walters, of the Cincinnati Reds.

The Cleveland pitching staff ace won 24 games and lost nine and distinguished his record with two one-hit ball games.

He also struck out 243 batters, leading his closest rival by some 50 strikeouts.

Reservoir Opens With Restrictions

The Ashokan reservoir and other bodies of water controlled by the department of water supply, gas and electricity of the city of New York, which have been closed since the outbreak of the European war as a precautionary measure, were ordered re-opened last week to holders of permits.

In order to boat or fish on any of the waters controlled by the city of New York it will be necessary to secure a permit and under the new order issued last Saturday no boating or fishing will be allowed within 1,000 feet of any dam, dyke, gatehouse, spillway or departmental structure.

Two types of permits will be issued, one for boating and fishing and one for fishing. The combination boating and fishing permit will be issued only on application to the Bronx office, while the fishing permit will be issued at the local offices when personal application is made.

In the case of holders of boat permits the department is sending out application forms which must be filled in. In the case of both boating and fishing permit and also the fishing permit two photographs will be required, one to be attached to the application which is filed with the department and one to be pasted upon the license issued to the applicant. These pictures must be 1 1/2 by 2 inches in size showing full face and head and shoulders.

Blanks Here
Division Engineer W. D. Hubbard has received a stock of application blanks at the office of the department of water supply, gas and electricity, Main street, Kingston, and also the license folders which will be issued to all applicants.

Applications forms for fishing may be secured either by calling in person or by writing the local office but in order to have a permit issued the applicant must call at the office in person with application and photographs before a license will be issued.

The same form is used for both fishing and boating licenses but all boating licenses will be issued from the Bronx office only. In making application for a boating permit, however, additional information as to boat dimensions must be given. Boating permits will be issued by mail when proper application is made but fishing permits will be issued only on personal application.

Fishing permits will be issued in the Bronx, Valhalla, Katonah, Carmel, Kingston, Ashokan Gate House and at Prattville when applicant appears in person. All applicants must provide the two photographs.

Restrictions
In the order of modification sent out it is specifically stated that boating and fishing will be permitted on the Catskill reservoirs "except that all areas posted with distinctively colored signs within 1,000 feet of any dam, gatehouse, spillway or departmental structure which will be closed for all purposes."

Boating and fishing is limited to daylight hours only. Permits will be issued to either men or women and children under 16 years of age who are accompanied by an adult holding a permit will not require a permit.

All boating permits will be valid for 1940 and thereafter will be renewable annually on application. In making application for boating permits by mail to the Bronx office a stamped, self-addressed envelope must accompany the application.

Fishing permits once issued will be valid until revoked. All persons to whom a boating permit is issued must place his or her boat in the water and keep it moored at a place designated by the resident engineers of the watershed.

Questions Asked
In making application for either a fishing or a boating and fishing permit the applicant must supply the following information on the application blank provided:

Full name, residence, age; place of birth; if naturalized, where; business or occupation; business address, whether convicted of any crime; if so, give circumstances; are you ex-convict; branch of service, are you or have you been associated with any police, fire, state, city or county government bureau or department, and if so state what connection. Three references with address are required. The application must be signed and dated and presented with two photographs. In making application for a boating permit, the color and type of boat, length, width and depth as well as any other identifying marks must be given.

No adult person may be taken in a boat on the reservoir unless such guest first obtains a fishing permit from the department.

Mundelein Dies In His Sleep

spoke publicly, yet never hesitated to state his convictions frankly. In 1938, he declared in a statement read over a nationwide radio network that Father Charles E. Coughlin "has the right to express his personal views on current events, but he is not authorized to speak for the Catholic Church, nor does he represent the doctrine or sentiments of the church."

He made many pilgrimages to Rome. He read a Mass there in 1938 celebrating the beatification of Mother Cabrini, a Chicago nun, who has been nominated for sainthood for her work in establishing hospitals in America.

George Mundelein was born July 2, 1872, in the Bowery district of New York city. He was one of nine children. He was only 17 when he was graduated from Manhattan College. He later pursued his studies at St. Vincent's Seminary at Beatty, Pa., and in Rome, where he was ordained.

In 1897 he became Chancellor of the Brooklyn diocese. He was the youngest member of the United States hierarchy in the United States when he was named auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn in 1909. His educational and charitable organizational work earned him such a reputation among prelates that when Archbishop James Edward Quigley of Chicago died in 1915, Mundelein was chosen to succeed him.

He was elevated to the cardinalate on March 24, 1924.

Hurley Gun Club

Twaalfskill Brook Plan Is Approved

City authorities have been advised by state officials that the proposed plan to enclose the Twaalfskill brook in a concrete culvert or tunnel at Wilbur avenue has been approved as a WPA project.

Work on the project is expected to be started shortly. For some time residents in the vicinity of the brook at Greenkill and Wilbur avenues have been complaining about the brook, and requesting that action be taken.

At a board of public works meeting the matter was referred to Engineer McCaffrey, who has charge of the sewer projects for the WPA, and he prepared several plans together with an estimated cost of each plan.

Later the interested property owners were invited to meet with Mayor Heiselman and other city officials at which time the property owners selected the plan they desired placed in operation for the cost, although the greater part of the cost will be paid out of local WPA funds.

Stopski Pleads His Innocence

Frank Stopskie, 43, of 427 Delaware avenue, who was arrested Sunday afternoon on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated and also with leaving the scene of an accident, pleaded not guilty to both charges when arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court this morning.

Judge Cahill fixed bail in the sum of $500, and adjourned the hearing to permit Stopskie an opportunity to engage the services of an attorney.

Stopskie was arrested on Broadway after his car had been in collision with a car driven by Miss Julia E. Holste, a member of the faculty of the Walton high school in New York city. Miss Holste and her friend, Miss Charlotte V. Becker, who was riding with her, escaped unhurt, although the car was badly damaged.

Stanislaus Buboltz, 57, of 136 Third avenue, who was riding with Stopskie, was also arrested on a charge of public intoxication to which he pleaded guilty today and was fined $3.

Special Services At Olive Bridge

Interesting special services are being planned for Sunday morning, October 8, in the Methodist Church at Olive Bridge, of which the Rev. Charles E. Hewitt is pastor.

The morning service will be in the form of a special Bible study group with a number of the congregation participating. This service will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hewitt, and several members from other churches are expected to take part.

There will also be special music with talent from Hensonville taking part in the service.

Free Clinic at Hurley School

A free clinic for the prevention of smallpox and diphtheria will be held in the new school at Hurley on Friday afternoon 2 to 4 o'clock, according to Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer of the township.

Dr. Sanford said that the purpose of holding the clinic was to immunize the children of the district against diphtheria and where vaccinated children will also be vaccinated against smallpox.

It is requested that all children from six months up be brought to the clinic that afternoon.

Public Intoxicating Cases in Police Court

Several cases of public intoxication were brought to the attention of Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court today. Ernest Osterhoudt, 33, of 30 Chambers street, charged with public intoxication on Hasbrouck avenue, pleaded not guilty and his hearing was adjourned to Wednesday.

Harold Wallace, 51, of 46 Cedar street, was fined $3 for public intoxication on North Front street on Sunday.

James MacMillan, 33, a negro of Columbus, Ohio, was fined $3 for being drunk on West Strand, a similar fine was imposed on Jason Lawrence, 32, a negro of 44 Tompkins street.
